

In a forest, there once was a crow who was unhappy with how he looked.

One day, he saw a beautiful peacock with colorful feathers.

A crow in the forest felt sad after seeing beautiful, colorful birds.

He noticed a beautiful peacock with bright, shiny feathers.

The crow put peacock feathers on himself. But other peacocks laughed at him.

The crow returned home and realized his own beauty.

Moral: Be happy with who you are.