

A fox and a stork were good friends.
One day, the fox invited the stork to dinner.

The next day, the stork invited him for dinner.

She served soup in a tall jar, and the fox could not eat at all.

The fox felt embarrassed and understood his mistake.

Moral: Treat others the way you want to be treated