The Farmer and the Magic Seed

Once upon a time, there was a farmer named Raghav. He found a tiny golden seed while digging

Curious, Raghav planted the seed in his garden. He watered it but the seed did not sprout.

The villagers laughed at Raghav. Despite this, Raghav patiently cared for the seed

Finally, the seed grew into a tree with golden leaves and sparkling fruit.

Raghav refused to sell the tree, saying, "Its magic is meant for everyone."

He freely shared the fruits with all, bringing happiness to everyone.

MORAL: Honesty, kindness, and patience bring magical results in life.
